WPA APPROVES HANCOCK SHORT-CUT ALLOTMENT

HALLOWE'EN BALL AT COLLEGE A GALA AFFAIR SUCCESS SCORES AGAIN

Crowning of Miss Peo Harding as Queen Leah I—Queen Of The Harvest Was Feature of Evening

The College Gym was the scene of one of the prettiest affairs that Bay St. Louis has seen in some time. The event was the Halloween Ball, given under the auspices of the Mothers' Club for the bus fund.

To the strains of the Grand March played by the College Band under the direction of Brother Romuald, the stately procession of heralds, maids, and their escorts, pages and lastly, the Queen wended its way to the stage which was beautifully decorated for the occasion in all the harvest colors and with evidences of the season in the pumpkins, sheaves of rice, sugar cane and colored leaves. The large crowd in attendance greeted with loud applause each couple as it entered the hall. The maids and the queen were met on the stage by their respective dukes and the king, who escorted them to their places on the stage.

Miss Peo Harding Queen

The Queen was beautifully clad in an ash-pink dress. From her shoulders trailed her long white train trimmed in rhinestones, with the letters S. S. C. in large rhinestones embroidered across it. On her head sat her diadem and in her hand she bore a scepter, symbols of her short reign, both beautifully finished in rhinestones. The queen was Miss Peo Harding, attractive and talented daughter of Mrs. Duncan B. Harding of Pass Christian. Miss Peo won the Queenship by a popularity contest among the college boys and the people of the vicinity.

Maids to Queen

The maids were gowned in varied colors to bring out the harvest idea. It was a beautiful sight when all were on the stage in a semi-circle. The maids were Misses Eddie Mae Stier, Jane Juden, Margaret Jane Williams, Emma Lou Adams, Helen Martin, Josie Seafide, June Elliott, Abbie Bourgeois, Margaret Clare Zimmermann, Nina di Benedetto, Bobie Reguard and Dorothy Tudury (Maid of Honor).

The heralds were Carol Ann Berger and Margie Elliott. The pages were Jack Quintini, Gaynel Gex, Carol Stevenson, Udell Pavre, Beverly Praetorius, and Virginia Seal. The hall was very artistically decorated for the occasion. The ladies worked hard and long and the results were well worth seeing. The stage was hung with a red cyclorama. In the center against a black background hung the harvest moon. Around and in front of the stage were various fruits of the harvest. The hall itself was under a canopy.

WHY MORE TAXES WHEN WE HAVE A 4-MILLION SURPLUS

Legislature Refuses to Abolish Ad Valorem, Despite Promise

The Yazoo Sentinel, for many years one of the outstanding semi-weekly newspapers of the State has evidently forgotten the fact that Mississippi has a two-per cent sales tax law, and that every man, woman and child in the commonwealth is now contributing something toward the support of the government. The Sentinel says:

If the time ever comes in this country when every citizen is required to pay a certain amount of taxes two things will happen. The tax burden will be lightened on those who are now carrying the load and those not now paying taxes will because of the fact that they are called upon to pay taxes become more interested and concerned about what is going on in their local, state and national government. The pocket book is still the sensitive spot with most people. The argument is sound, however, and we reproduce it because it reminds us of the argument so vociferously set forth by the advocates of the sales tax a few years ago. We were told then that the imposition of the sales tax would pave the way for lower ad valorem levies—and we were foolish enough to believe it.

Notwithstanding the fact that the State has within the past three years exacted from the overburdened taxpayers about $4,000,000 more than was needed to defray the expense of the State government, and State institutions, the legislature has flatly refused to abolish the State ad valorem levy.—West Point Leader.

shelves of the Library. The material, political, and religious machinations of Seventeenth Century Europe, the quietly injected psychological and philosophical annotations of Belloc's personal theorizing, the great and far-flung adumbrations, not of men nor countries, but of encroaching Unties provide a wide and sombre canvas for the minutely etched figure of the small and powerful Cardinal, with his blank eyes looking always inward, his finicky vanities deceiving half a universe, his implacable, pitilessly accurate genius for cannonballs concealed in a cassock, readjusting the political ethics of a continent.

NEW BOOKS AT LOCAL LIBRARY

Mrs. L. W. Jacobs to Present Review of Month For Nov.—Life of Catherine

The gratifying and steady growth of the collection of books on the shelves of the Hancock E. R. A. County Library continues. Among the donations of the past week are a thirteen-volume set of The Classroom Teacher, the gift of the County Superintendent of Schools, Mr. McQueen. Mr. McQueen also contributed fifty English Classics, an anthology by Melvin Hix, of the Teachers' College at Columbia University; and Poetry of Our Times by Sharon Brown, a Fellow of Brown University. In addition, about 20 books of fiction were presented to the Library by Mrs. C. W. Chapman.

At the November meeting of the Review of the Month Club, Mrs. L. W. Jacobs will present Current Events which always form an enjoyable and instructive feature of the program, while the book review will be prepared by Mrs. C. C. McDonald. The book she has chosen is Catherine, Portrait of an Empress, a life of that remarkable sovereign, Catherine the Great.

The colored branch of the Library is reopening at 231 Washington St., under the direction of Arsene Collins.

LOST IN SWAMPS; RESCUED

From Night and Half Day In Pascagoula Swamps On Hunting Trip

Joseph D. di Benedetto, local merchant and well-known citizen, was found shortly after 11 o'clock, Sunday morning, after having been lost in the swamps of Pascagoula, eight miles north-west of Vancleave since shortly before dark Saturday evening.

Mr. di Benedetto left here Saturday morning by train, on No. 6 at 4 o'clock, and disembarking at Biloxi met J. W. and John Hamilton, Mr. J. W. representing the National Biscuit Company and calls on the local trade frequently.

"I had left my two companions unawares and soon found that I had wandered beyond reach and was lost. I followed what I thought was the direction, leading to a bayou that we had as our objective," said Mr. Benedetto, "and instead I found myself that night on the banks of a wide body of water, which I instinctively knew was the Pascagoula river. There was no round, not even a boat going by the river. I decided I had better make the best of it and prepared to camp and sleep there for the night. I had only a small flashlight but no matches hence I was quite cold during the night and could not sleep. Following morning I continued walking until late. It was 10 o'clock and I thought I should be at church, my customary time every Sunday. Later I heard voices, quite faintly. They were calling. But I knew that I would not be heard. Later, however, as the voices became clearer I replied. My companions fired a gun and I replied. This finally led to my rescue. I had eaten no supper, had no sleep, spent a night of exposure and had no breakfast. That was the discomfort of my being lost, but at no time was I apprehensive that I would not be found.

"I want to thank through the columns of The Sea Coast Echo," those from Bay St. Louis and other of my friends who hastened to the scene and were searching for me. I am very grateful for their concern about my safety and for their solicitation and cannot say too much in appreciation."

The hunters had gone squirrel hunting, killing only three. This is accounted for by the fact the party was broken up after Mr. di Benedetto became lost. Mrs. W. J. Hamilton accompanied the party, but remained at the camp.

CATHOLIC WOMEN TO MEET AT VARIOUS TOWNS IS PLANNED

National Council Catholic Women Meet at Pass—Next Session In Bay St. Louis

All of the N. C. C. W. meetings are interesting but the one held Monday, October 7, at St. Joseph's Academy, Pass Christian, Miss., could not be surpassed.

After the opening prayer by Father Leech, the newly elected president, Mrs. Mary Van Clooster, presided.

The members were a little disappointed in not hearing a report on the new state convention held at Columbus last week-end, but due to illness in the family, Mrs. J. C. Clancy, secretary, was unable to be present. They look forward with pleasure to hearing this report at the next meeting.

The reports on activity from the three units, Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian and Long Beach were read. The president then suggested that a study club for the N. C. C. W. be formed. This suggestion met with the approval of all of the members. Miss Adele Denis of Pass Christian was appointed to report on the subject, "Priest-Martyrs of Mississippi and Louisiana." A more interesting topic could not have been chosen.

Prayer leaflets for the beautification of the Priest-Martyrs were distributed among the members.

Father Fischer, acting pastor of St. Thomas Church, Long Beach, during Father Hagers' absence gave a short but most interesting talk on study clubs. He pointed out the necessity of such work and hopes to see a club established in the district real soon.

A motion was made by Mrs. C. A. Gordon of Bay St. Louis to hold the monthly meetings at a different unit each time instead of having Pass Christian as the appointed place. The motion was carried and it was decided to meet at Long Beach next month.

The closing prayers were said by Father Gmelch of Bay St. Louis. Refreshments were served and the meeting adjourned.

Students of the school assembled in long lines and sang patriotic selections from time to time, interspersing the program, while Bay St. Louis Municipal Band discoursed selections, adding to the occasion.

The program, in order named, followed:

Remarks by Supt. S. J. Ingram.

Address by Mayor G. Y. Blaize, city Bay St. Louis.

Turning the first spadeful of dirt, "breaking ground" spot marked by an American flag, was by Mrs. C. C. McDonald, member and representing the school board.

Commissioner Perkins gave an outline of how the federal contribution to build the gymnasium, was produced articles to be put into ordinary trade channels.

PASSING OF DR. BUCKLEY EARLY SUNDAY MORNING; BURIAL AT ENTERPRISE

Local Physician Dies Unexpectedly—Had Been Up Night Previously On Emergency Case Following Bus Accident; Native Mississippian, Aged 48.

Dr. Joseph Charles Buckley, native of Enterprise, and resident of Bay St. Louis and more latterly of Gulfport, passed away at his home on Waveland Beach Sunday morning at about 6 o'clock, suffering from an attack at about 4 o'clock, awakened from his slumber.

Dr. Buckley had been called the evening previously to the local King's Daughters Hospital to attend four boys who had been hurt in a bus accident and, with other physicians, attended to the injured. Later when it was found necessary to take one of the accident victims, Thomas Chiniche, to the hospital at Gulfport for an operation, he accompanied the lad and remained with him until past the midnight hour.

"His services as a physician were actively in demand and, like the true physician always concerned more about others than self. It can truly be said that he gave his life in order others might live. For Dr. Buckley was not always well, but he never failed to answer the call, feeling that humanity came first."

Taken Suddenly

On taking suddenly ill, two physicians and a trained nurse were requisitioned at once and all professional assistance possible was administered in the hope he would rally. But the good physician, yet young in years but old in service, who had served mankind, his labors were at end and peacefully an calmly this useful life came to a close, blessed by the inextinguishable good he had accomplished while here below. The remains were taken to the Lang Undertaking Establishment at Gulfport, to be prepared for burial and were conveyed back to Bay St. Louis Sunday noon and exposed in the parlors of the Fahey Undertaking Funeral Home, in charge.

Sunday night, at 9 o'clock, the Rev. J. E. Gray, pastor First Methodist church, of which Dr. Buckley was a consistent member, conducted the religious ceremony at the funeral home, in the presence of one of the largest assemblies ever noted at the mortuary place. Early the following morning, pursuant to a former request made by the Doctor, the remains were conveyed (overland) to Enterprise, his birth place and home of his mother, for interment, where the remains were tenderly laid "at rest" in the hallowed precincts of the cemetery at that place, in the presence of many friends. The place was marked by a wealth of rare flowers.

Rev. J. E. Gray, his pastor of Bay St. Louis, and Rev. C. C. Clark, formerly his pastor of Bay St. Louis, and now located at Waynesboro, Miss., were present at the funeral at Enterprise and conducted the last rites of the church jointly, both at the house and the beautiful cemetery, surrounded with cedar trees and located on a hill, about one mile from town.

The hearse was followed by an automobile which conveyed Mrs. Buckley, accompanied by Mr. and Highway projects in 15 counties, representing an estimated total cost of $1,343,250, to employ 5,500 Mississippians now on federal relief rolls, were announced Tuesday, at Jackson, by E. D. Kenna, director of the state highway department.

The projects are the "first section" of the state's $7,000,000 road building and grade crossing elimination program contemplated under the Works Progress Administration. The "first section" allotment was approved by the WPA in Washington last week, and received the approval of the federal bureau of public roads today.

Contracts on the projects, largely for grading, drainage, grade crossing elimination, are to be advertised for bids to be received on Nov. 19, and work upon the projects will begin immediately thereafter.

In the advertising columns of this week's Echo will be found the advertisement asking for bids on this project, to be opened at Jackson on Tuesday, November 19. Two hundred and twenty days are allowed in which to accomplish this new highway, connecting the Louisiana shortcut with Mississippi thru that portion of Hancock County, from Pearlport to the present Old Spanish Trail Highway on through to Bay St. Louis known as U. S. Works Program Highway Project No. WPH 220.

The new road, for which $200,000 has been allocated, will cover a distance of eight miles, according to official advertisement. This new road, already surveyed will be built of material and in that manner will make it most permanent.

Kenna said the Nov. 19 "letting" will be the "largest single letting in the history of the department."

"We are very gratified to announce the largest highway letting in the history of the department, which has been set for Nov. 19," Kenna said Tuesday. "When the work on these projects begin it will afford an opportunity to thousands of Mississippi people to have employment during the winter months."

While we realize the primary purpose of the federal government in making an allocation of these funds for highway construction was for relief of unemployment, at the same time every project is of permanent and worthwhile value, and fits into the ultimate completed highway system.

LIST OF PROJECTS

Kenna listed the approved projects as follows:

Holmes County, U. S. 51, grading and drainage, 5.9 miles. Estimated cost $109,500.

Rankin county, U. S. 80, grading and drainage, 3.7 miles. Cost $115,000.

BAY HIGH TIGERS TO INVADÉ BILOXI THIS FRIDAY NIGHT

An Play Indians — Game Last Year Ended 6-6 Tie; Probable Line Up

The Bay High Tigers will invade the stronghold of the Indians at Biloxi Friday night in one of the most looked forward games of the season. With interest running high in both Bay St. Louis and Biloxi, both teams are out to win; the game last year ending as a 6-6 tie.

The chief mentor of the Tigers' defense, Steele, 230 pound tackle, will be back in the line-up being out for two weeks because of leg injuries. Another that will bear watching on the defense is Anderson, who is probably the hardest and most consistent tackler of the Bay High Eleven. Smith, star Tiger quarterback, will make the longest ground gains, going off tackle and skirting ends. Quintini can be expected to shoot quiet a few passes to Hillis, end, and Rhodes, halfback should make substantial gains. The Tigers have had a very hard schedule for the first half of the season, but expect to win a majority of the rest of the games.

The probable line-up for Bay Hi will be: Hillis, Steele, Carmichael, Anderson, N. Rhodes, A. Seafide, and Kellar on the line, with Smith, W. Rhodes, Quintini and Bourgeois in the back field.

DR. J. C. BUCKLEY

THE passing away Sunday morning of Dr. Joseph Charles Buckley removes from our midst a personality and professional representative that will leave a void difficult to fill.

He was a man of wide usefulness. He administered to the sick regardless of time and compensation. He knew neither creed, color nor condition. Duty first was ever uppermost and as such, though not a well man, his activities were ever impelled by that high sense of responsibility and administering to his fellow-men.

It can be sad he literally died in harness. The news columns tell he had been up the greater portion of the night with a child, victim of an accident, and it was only a comparative short while later that he gave his life, sacrificed on the altar of duty.

Dr. Buckley was a citizen. He was a member of the town Council of Waveland to which he gave much thought and time; in Bay St. Louis he was a member of the Rotary Club. "Service above self" and "He who serves most serves best," two of the elements of Rotary creed. He was affiliated with church and fraternal work.

His charities were many. It is said, and is fact, that he provided from his personal pocket the funds Saturday night with which to pay for the anesthetic used for the child victim whose parents were utterly unable to pay for. It was the very last thing he did. An act that was true charity, ennobling and certainly one that was inscribed in the Great Book. It is men of this type, who do so much and that for which money can never repay, we miss when they are no more. His memory will never perish. To those who knew him best it will ever remain, more lasting and telling in sentiment and gratitude than bronze or granite. Men die, but their good deeds live.

The Italian campaign in Ethiopia may be slow but in the long run Mussolini's military machine will get what it wants unless some outside force helps the smaller nation.

ELECTIONS NEXT TUESDAY

THERE will be a general election held on Tuesday of next week, November 5, at which time all State and county officers will be voted for. On the ticket will appear the Democratic nominees and a blank line below the printed name will follow. This for the writing of any name other than the nominees of the party, that is, provided, however, the name of the candidate is that of one who has qualified.

Primaries held in August were only for nominations and Tuesday's voting will be necessary for legal election.

It behooves that as many as votes as possible be cast, even though only one ballot, legally voted, will elect. A heavy vote shows a manifestation of interest and the proper spirit of a citizen and the totals, as registered with the Secretary of State at Jackson, for the archives, makes for a better showing.

Apathy at any election shows a decided lack of interest and concern. Our people are vitally interested in public affairs and it is well that we be so recorded officially. Vote for the nominees Tuesday.

PRESIDENT PROCLAIMS ARMISTICE DAY

PROCLAIMING November 11 as Armistice Day, President Roosevelt remarked that "it is particularly fitting on this anniversary of the armistice that we should express our determination to remain at peace with all nations and our conviction that permanent peace can and must be attained throughout the world."

The President directed that the flag be displayed on all government buildings that day, and invited the nation "to observe the day with appropriate ceremonies in school, churches, or other suitable places."

Ray Murphy, national commander of the American Legion, said after a call upon the president last week that Mr. Roosevelt would speak at Armistice Day exercises in Arlington National Cemetery.

The occasion undoubtedly will bring observations from Mr. Roosevelt on the involved international situation.

SCIENCE IS INEETERSTING

THE men of science are always interesting even though sometimes they go so far back into the past that the average man or woman wonders where they learn their stuff.

With this observation we call your attention to the recent statement of Professor A. S. Furrer, geologist of Western Reserve University, and D. W. Carter, head of a diamond tool company. Both agree that unconfirmed discoveries of diamonds on the shore of Lake Erie present proof that many years ago glaciers, passing over Canada, carried many precious stones to this country.

Moreover the idea is that Canada was a jungle in days "before nature began to form gems in South Africa" and, consequently, should contain "greater deposits of riches than the comparatively new Dark Continent." Apparently the glaciers may have deposited in some areas of the United States precious stones that now lie buried and undiscovered.

HIGHWAYS SHOULD BE PATROLLED

THAT such a highly-traveled road as the Old Spanish Trail between New Orleans and the Gulf Coast is not police patrolled gives rise to considerable questioning. And surely something should be done about it.

Human life on the highway is given negligible consideration. Speeders take possession of the highway and freight trucks, as a rule, monopolize all space and privileges.

It is well known that public freight and other private cargo carriers assume more rights than would seem, at least, be right. There seems to be no regulation as to just how wide a truck chassis may carry a top structure, not infrequently covering approximately two-thirds of the roadway. This size carrier, invariably, as strange as it may seem, shows little regard for the rights of others and will not give room to cars sounding horns for right of way and space to go by.

Railroads are bound by all kinds of restrictions. They must slow up while running thru certain sections, they must blow a whistle, ring a bell, as the provision of law may require, and all kinds of other safety measures—always the utmost precaution for protection.

A freight truck monopolizing the highway, it is alleged, was the cause of the school bus accident occurring on the OST some twenty-odd miles out from Bay St. Louis, Saturday night. The driver of the school bus, carrying some twenty-five children, says the truck was bent on the extreme edge of the highway at the close possibility of turning over in order to stay clear. But even at that the truck came so close as to sideswipe the bus, with the result four of the children were painfully and one seriously hurt. There might have been loss of life, if not for the extreme cautiousness of the bus driver.

The highway police patrolled would avoid many of the accidents that occur daily. It would discourage fast and other reckless driving and the cost might save lives. A human life is precious. It cannot be replaced. Its value cannot be computed in dollars and cents. A human crippled is a life marred. There is no necessity for so much fatality as the daily press records. Cities and towns give extreme attention to parking regulations, but none seems to be given to curbing the onslaught of the lunatic behind the wheel who runs wild and the truck that becomes a road hog.

This article will not correct the menace. Something ought to be done about it, however, and the executive bodies should get busy.

There are still being born one a minute but the automobile is doing effective work to cut down the percentage of those that live.

WORKING FOR THE CITY

BREAKING ground this week at Central School for building of a gymnasium, a federal project, for which some thirty-odd thousand dollars are available, following approval and final confirmation, is significant and it was well appropriate yet simple ceremony marked the occasion.

This building will set directly to the back of the present high school building and centered. This will leave room for the construction later of possibly two wings necessary for the conduct of classes in academic pursuit.

Athletics have long become recognized as part of the school curriculum, for, it is well accepted by authorities that healthy bodies make for a strong and healthy mind.

Our city school is the only one in the city without a gym building, while the two other private local major schools have to their credit gym buildings of size and price commensurate with the needs and importance of the work.

Let it be said to the credit of our City Board of Mayor and Commissioners, Board of School Trustees and City Superintendent of Schools that this latest project to be had from the government for our city schools comes from the individual and collective efforts of the officials comprising these forces.

It is all very well to apply for public works fund, but behind it all, there must be strong and consistent solicitation for favor and final award. It is necessary to show the absolute necessity for such projects, blue prints and a well-defined story of argument justifying the granting of such demands. This our officials have attended to diligently. They have worked indefatigably, and with the aid of representative higher up, succeeded.

There is cause of congratulation. And there must be an expression registered somewhere of appreciation and thanks. All praise to whom praise is due.

Give the people of the United States adequate buying power and all the factories in the country, working overtime, could not supply the demand for goods.

MAKING FOR A BIG CITY AND THE GULF COAST

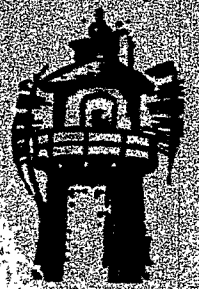

GULFPORT is the logical place for the building of large city on the Mississippi Gulf Coast and no other of the "seven cities by the sea" feels in any way a bit envious. On the contrary, there is plenty of growth and ultimate prosperity for the entire coastal section. One will help to build the other.

The million-dollar docks at Gulfport are fast nearing that point where completion is not far distant. Many major projects there are either in the making or going through the formative period and in time we expect to see the city building to vast and substantial proportions and forging ahead.

With the completion of a highway from Memphis to the sea thousands of tourists and others will come hither in and out of season. Our section calls for new blood, new ideas and inspiration. More industry, more doing, more spending.

No where in the world is there a more equable climate. No where is less demanded from the elements. Our winters are extremely mild and out door living is practically all the year round. Our trouble is this section has received no exploitation. Tucked away on the very fringe of the state line where the gulf waters meet we remain hidden from the world, unknown and unexplored.

FLASHES FROM THE

LIGHTHOUSE

SUCH CONJECTURE

YOU don't suppose it could have been politics that influenced the board of supervisors to take off the 2-cent gas levy right before election and put it on again right after—Gulfport (Harrison county) Guide. Hardly (3).

LET US BE THANKFUL FOR THE WINDOWS

Some of the more foresighted residents of towns that are, and have been, dependent largely upon the saw mill industry in their midst, are beginning to ask the question "What are we going to do when the mills saw out?" We cannot answer, but we can point you to the fate of many, once thriving towns that now are piles of rusted iron and decayed and abandoned homes. Look out the railroad train windows.

—Coast Tarpon. And with the ultimate passing of the railroads in lieu of bus and trucks, as some predict, there will be no "railroad train windows" thru which to see the piles of rusted iron and abandoned homes.

CAMPAIGN THAT WAS UNJUSTLY UNPOPULAR

The present dipping campaign has killed, crippled and poisoned more stock according to the list of claims, filed with the Board of Supervisors than has ever occurred in the same period and same number of stock dipped, in any previous campaign. The loss is extreme.—Pass Christian Tarpon.

Do the means justify the end?

WHY DO THEY DO IT?

Psychologists attempt to explain every human action but we have never heard one offer a satisfactory explanation of why a boy dreads to wash behind his ears or why a full grown man who should know better will spit on the floor of a public building.—Yazoo Sentinel.

And why do husbands strew the ashes of their cigar or cigarette on wife's carpets

TAXRIDEN CITY

A taxridden city must decide on November 9 whether or not it is able to afford a $152,000 bond issue for expansion of its school system.—Gulfport Guide.

The Guide's own comment is fitting.

"Is the need as great as the price?"

UNIMPORTANT

Refusal of the legislators in special session to reduce the state ad valorem tax is relatively unimportant.

The state levy is only five mills, which, compared with some of the immense rates in separate districts in counties is a mere pibble in the taxation load now hanging around the necks of the people of Mississippi.—Press telegram from Jackson.

WHY DELETE THE D?

An Eastern editor insists that the country is infested with D's. He says:

"Depression, drouth, dust, debt, dams, deals, (new), Democracy, discount, drunkenness, dances, danruff, dilemma, death, devil, demagogues, disease, decay, deceit, despair."

To which the Stuart (Fla.) Daily News adds:

"Ah, yes, 'D' is a disgraceful dreamy, devilish, dirty, dowdy, doubtful, dizzy, discordant, discolored, distrustful, distracted, dissipated, disgusting, designing, deranged, depraved, depreciative, denunciatory, delusive, degenerate, defiant, defiant, decomposed, debased and damnable letter."

It should be deleted.

But why delete the letter D when without it we would have no dawn, no day, no divinity, no disciples, no devoutness, no deportment, no discipline, no diligence, no desire, no development, no depth, no domicile, and last, but not least, of the many D's, is DOLLARS. We would be in a devilish dilemma.

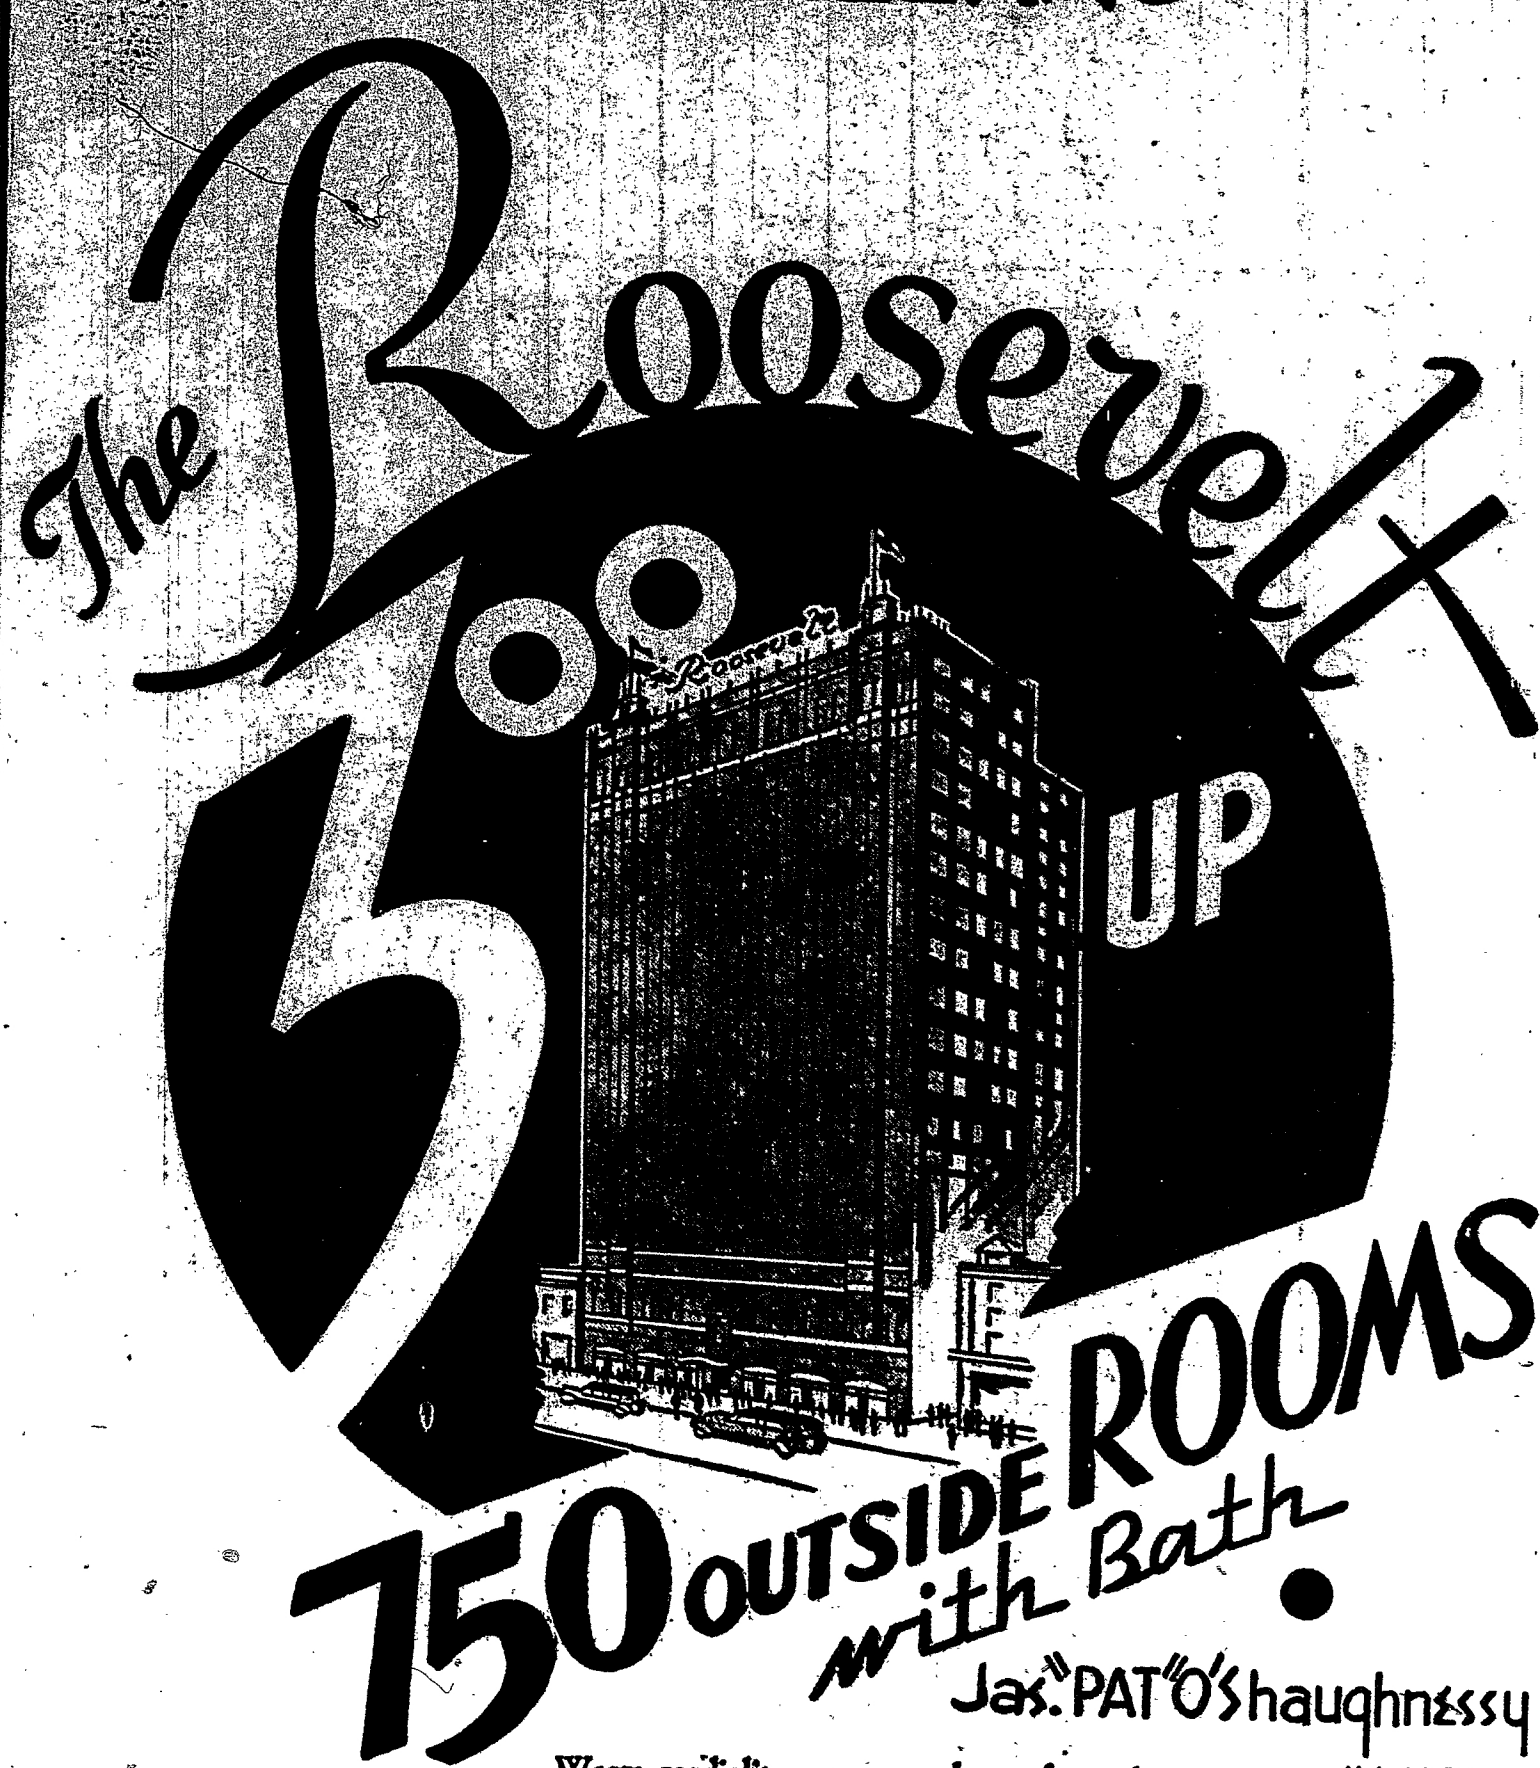

FUNCTIONS

The newly formed Social Security Board, headed by former Governor John G. Winant, which was unable to function on account of having no appropriation, has at last been given a temporary drawing account. Comptroller General McCall has approved an allotment of $2,610 from the Public Works and Relief Fund. This will start the Board's work but is a long way from the 76 million dollars appropriated for its activities under the Third Deficiency Appropriation Bill.

SOCIAL ERROR

Some amusement was caused by the fact that Representative Chas. A. Eaton, a Republican from New Jersey, received one of the President's letters to the clergy asking for advice and comment. Mr. Eaton served as a minister prior to 1919 and has been a member of the House for eleven years. He is a notable critic of the Administration.

The members of the Waveland P. T. A. attended the Tacky Party given last Tuesday at the Masonic Temple hall in Bay St. Louis. Games were played and prizes were awarded the winners. The lure of the Gulf Coast was so irresistible, that Misses Eula Winn, Claire Wamsams, Dorothy Adams, Marie L. Sherwood and Mr. A. O. One would have to know the novelty of "camping in tents" to appreciate what a real treat it is and that there is something genuine about getting back to nature. Eula Winn is a newcomer to the camp and she was duly initiated Saturday night.

The community was grieved to hear of the death of Dr. J. C. Buckley which occurred early Sunday morning. Dr. Buckley was genuinely kind to everyone with whom he came in contact, and he will be greatly missed as a physician, also as an Alderman in which capacity he has served the town of Waveland for several years. Our deepest sympathy goes out to Mrs. Buckley in her bereavement.

Matinee Or Night; It's Just The Same! At Circus

DORIS CLEVELAND AND BOLIVAR

In spite of the fact that the night performances of the big circus are exact counterparts of that which is exhibited at the afternoon shows, there are many people who hold views to the contrary.

"See, they are taking part of it away," someone will exclaim as he notes a string of red wagons winding their way toward the railroad yards just about the time darkness is falling.

"Oh, yes," answered another, "one never sees the whole show at the night performance."

Yet the conclusion is entirely erroneous. It is true that the management "takes part of it away" from the show grounds in the late afternoon, but that which is removed is in no way connected with that which the public pays to see. It is merely a portion of the paraphernalia which has been used in the morning street parade, the tents which have been used throughout the day to house the hundreds of heavy draught horses, the vast equipment of the dining tents or kitchens, and other "house-keeping" departments.

The Rice Bros. Circus when it visits Bay St. Louis, Friday (today) November 1 will feed hundreds of people in dining tents. The food consumed will be cooked on four mammoth ranges. The last of the three meals will have been served at 5:30 P. M. Immense wagons are required to transport the equipment of this one department. Supper over with, these vans will be loaded immediately and started on their way. In the street parade there will be scores of band wagons, chariots and tableau barges that are used solely for street pageant purposes. Ten wagons are required to carry the costumes, banners, flags and trappings worn or carried by the hundreds of men and women and horses that take part in the parade.

So when the Rice Bros. Circus comes to town and you see the twilight caravan on its way you will know what these departing wagons contain. As for the big show program with its maze of circus acts, tremendous spectacle, and vast menagerie, you may rest assured that every bit of it to the tiniest spangle is still at the show grounds awaiting night patrons just as it greeted those who came to the matinee performance.

An immense street parade will be seen on the downtown streets at noon. Doors to the Allen King menagerie will open at 1 and 7 p. m. The big show starts promptly at 2 and 8 p. m.
